Ahoy All!

The speed of technological change never ceases to amaze!

Those of you who woke up the other day thinking you've been transported to another planet where everyone's speaking a different language of tweets, pokes, apps and androids may be interested to know there's a week full of events that are being planned that should help you all breach the digital divide. It'll be as if your ears have been filled by leaping babelfish...and by the end of the week you'll start to decode and understand this brave new world :D

Digital Scarborough 2010
10th - 13th March 2010
Scarborough UK
